Youth Birding Scholarship Opportunity

The Northern Virginia Bird Club is sponsoring the Val Kitchens Memorial Young Birder Scholarship for 2016. We are seeking applicants, 13 to 17 years of age, to receive a financial grant of up to $500 to attend a Virginia Society of Ornithology (VSO) activity, a birding camp, a birding course or educational offering, or a similar activity. Applicants will be asked to submit a letter of application to the Board with a short biography (name, age, current involvement in birding if any), description of the planned activity and expressing why they would value this opportunity. Candidates will be asked to provide a reference from a member of NVBC, VSO, or from a birder familiar to the Club.

The deadline for submitting applications is March 13, 2016. Applications can be submitted as an attachment via email to the Club at

NVBC GENERAL MEETING—WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 8 PM

Urban Birds: Do Tree Species Matter? How Native and Exotic Plants Affect Food Resources for Backyard Birds
Speaker Desiree Narango

Although scientists have long recognized that the bird communities in urban areas are usually different from natural areas, surprising little research has been conducted to figure out why this occurs. Most urban ecology has focused on the remaining forest in or near urban areas even though suburban backyards also have the potential to provide suitable habitat for wildlife. Backyards have many different types of plants that may, or may not, be capable of providing important food items that promote local biodiversity.

Neighborhood Nestwatch is a program run by the Smithsonian Migratory Bird Center to study the effects of urbanization on birds. In 2013, the Nestwatch Food Web Project was initiated to investigate whether plants that are not native to the local ecosystem (i.e., exotic) support the same insect food resources for a common backyard bird: the Carolina Chickadee. In the summers of 2013 - 2015, the Food Web team with the help of over 150 volunteers, monitored backyard chickadee nest boxes in the Washington, DC area. Desiree will speak about some of the preliminary findings of this study as well as some of the ways you can participate in citizen science.

Desiree Narango is a Ph.D. student of Entomology and Wildlife Ecology at the University of Delaware and a Research Associate at the Smithsonian Migratory Bird Center. Her research interests focus on understanding how animals respond and adapt to a rapidly changing world. She has over ten years of experience studying wildlife. She’s also an active birder who really enjoys increasing her yard list and getting others excited about the natural world.

Early bird refreshments start at 7:30 PM. Any contributions of food or beverage will be most gratefully received. There will be a drawing for door prizes. Northern Virginia Bird Club pins will be available for members who would like to buy them ($5 each).

MEETING PLACE: St. Andrews Episcopal Church, 4000 Lorcom Lane, Arlington, 22207. Directions are on page 4.
The Winter Chincoteague Weekend club trip is scheduled for February 5-7 (Friday to Sunday) co-led by Marc Ribaudo and myself. February is an excellent time to visit Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel (CBBT) Islands. The Refuge is loaded with wintering waterfowl while the CBBT is famous for wintering sea ducks. On last year’s trip, we saw a total of 97 species including 25 species of waterfowl. Highlight sightings were Ross’s Goose and Horned Larks at Chincoteague NWR, Red Knots at the Chincoteague City mudflats, and American Bitterns near Mariner’s Point. At the CBBT Islands, we found Common Eiders, Harlequin Ducks, Long-tailed Ducks, all three scoter species, Great Cormorants, Northern Gannets, Purple Sandpipers, Lesser Black-backed Gulls and best of all — a Razorbill.

Plans for the weekend include birding the Chincoteague area Friday afternoon starting at 3:15 pm. (optional) and Saturday starting at 7:30 am. Activities on Friday and Saturday include birding along Beach Road, Swan Cove and Tom’s Cove and around the Wildlife Loop. Time and tides permitting, we will also visit the Queen Sound Flats, the Chincoteague City mudflats and Mariner’s Point.

We will also arrange a trip to the CBBT Islands on Sunday, weather permitting. The CBBT trip requires security forms in advance and an extra fee (about $10 per person). The trip concludes at noon on Sunday.

NVBC membership is required for this trip. To sign up for this trip, call or email Elton Morel at 703-553-4860 or eltonmorel@verizon.net. The trip is limited to 24 people and usually fills up, so please contact Elton Morel first to ensure that space is available before making hotel reservations. When signing up, please indicate whether you are interested in Sunday morning’s CBBT Island trip and a Saturday evening group dinner. If the trip is full, your name can be put on a waiting list.

We have obtained a special rate of $75 per night on twenty rooms for Friday and Saturday nights at the Best Western Chincoteague Island Hotel on Maddox Boulevard. A two-night stay is usually required. Hotel reservations must be made by January 21 to get this special group rate. Participants should make your own reservations by calling 800-553-6117 and be sure to say you are with the Northern Virginia Bird Club. Check-in time is 3 pm on Friday, February 6, with 24-hour notice required for cancellation. Chincoteague NWR is a US fee area.

HIGHLAND COUNTY WINTER WEEKEND

Our winter trip to Highland County will be held on the weekend of March 4 - 6 (Friday to Sunday). We will spend Friday night in Staunton and Saturday night in Highland County. The trip limit is 16 people. A complete description of the trip will be in the February 2016 edition of the Siskin. Marv Rubin will lead the trip. To sign up, call Elton Morel at 703-553-4860 or email at eltonmorel@verizon.net. NVBC membership is required.

Treasurer’s Report for Fiscal Year 2015

The Club has almost 360 family and individual memberships, with close to 500 members

Income received
Dues for 2015 $3,806
Bird Watcher’s Digest & pins 373
Donations 682
Total Income $4,861

Expenses
Organizational costs $748
(includes fees for PO box, bulk mailing, web site hosting, state registration, VSO dues, etc.)
Meeting expenses 1,023
(hall rental, speaker honorariums, etc.)
Siskin printing and postage 1,984
Donations made by Club 100
Total expenses $3,855
Net for 2015 $1,006

We entered 2015 projecting a slight deficit. The Club was fortunate in receiving higher revenues than expected. NVBC received donations of over $400 from generous members to whom we are very grateful. We also received $277 from the warblers class taught by Larry Meade in co-sponsorship with the Audubon Society of Northern Virginia.

On the expense side, we were very close to projected amounts. The one exception is that we did not award a youth scholarship in 2015 due to process timing issues. The Board hopes to resume the scholarship award in 2016.

The result of these items was a surplus of $1,006.

Why go birding in Arizona?

Richard Cachor Taylor in his ABA’s A Birder’s Guide to Southeastern Arizona (ABA/Lane Birdfinding Guide, 2005), asserts that, “Southeastern Arizona is one of the most exciting regions for birding in North America. More than 400 species occur here annually, and 514 species have been recorded. That is more kinds of birds than any other land-bounded area of comparable size in the United States.” The varied geography provides the habitats to support the species diversity as you travel from the deserts, canyons to the forested mountains, i.e., the Sky Islands.

There are many ways to go birding in Southeastern Arizona: on your own using birding guide books, arranging for a personal birding guide, signing up for a trip with a birding company such as WINGS, VENT, or Borderland Tours, and participating in birding festivals. We signed up for the Tucson Bird and Wildlife Festival in part because Tucson has a variety of things to do including visiting museums and galleries and good restaurants.

The Tucson Audubon Society sponsors the Tucson Bird and Wildlife Festival held this year August 12 – 16. It takes advantage of the summer monsoon season sometimes called the “second spring” with the rains bringing increased plant growth, insect activity and bird activity. The month of August finds the peak of hummingbird diversity.

The festival includes half- and full-day field trips led by expert birders, several who live in Arizona and all have bired extensively there. Trip leaders included Rick Taylor (yes, the author of the ABA birder’s guide and Birds of Southeastern Arizona) and Laurens Halsey (birding guide and wildlife photographer and regional eBird reviewer) and others with impressive backgrounds and knowledge.

The organizers want to optimize the birding experience so the number of field trip participants were limited to about 16 birders in two vans.

The start time for field trips ranged from 5 to 5:30 am which can be daunting until you factor in the time difference between Arizona and Virginia. Those of us coming from the East Coast benefited from the three-hour time difference so it was much easier not to miss the van departure time! The early start is important in August since daytime temperatures heat up quickly although it remained much cooler in the mountains. August is the monsoon season so we came prepared with rain gear but aside from a stormy night, there wasn’t any rain during our field trips. Visitors without any experience with the monsoons and flash flooding need to be careful to consult with locals in the event of rain.

With little experience birding in the West, we saw life birds every day. Our first stop on the field trip to the Huachuca Mountains was at a grassland area at the south entrance of the Las Cienegas National Conservation Area. Our first lifer for the day was the Chihuahuan Raven flying by and later great binocular and scope views of Botteri’s Sparrows. Everyone enjoyed the flocks of Lark Buntings flying across, landing in scrubby trees and grasses and flying away. At the next stop at Carr Canyon lower road we walked and scanned along the roadside and saw Black-throated Gray Warblers, Bridled Titmouse, Black-headed Grosbeak, and Anna’s Hummingbirds. There were more life birds at the next stop: Olive Warbler, Grace’s Warbler, Painted Redstart, Yellow-eyed Junco, Acorn Woodpecker, and Buff-b breasted Flycatcher. We had our sandwiches at the picnic area near the Ramsey Vista where we had great looks at Zone-tailed Hawk. As a side note, the vans carry juggled water to refill personal water bottles and full-day trips have sandwiches, snacks, and soft drinks for lunch. We ended the birding stops at the Ash Canyon B&B that is famous for its hummingbirds. Hummingbirds that came to the feeders included Anna’s, Black-chinned, Broad-billed, Lucifer (male and female), Hybrid Lucifer and Costa’s, and Magnificent.

On Saturday, we joined the Borderland Specialties trip led by Rick Taylor and John Yerger. On the outward bound trip, we saw a group of Pronghorns. At the Sonora rest area, we saw Say’s Phoebe, Cassin’s and Western Kingbirds perching along the fences. We continued on to various stops along Harshaw Canyon. We had great views of a Pacific-Slope, Gray and three Sulfur-bellied Flycatchers; Acorn and Arizona Woodpeckers; Hutton’s Vireo; adult and spotted immature Eastern and Western Bluebirds; and many other birds. We also got a good view of the Elegant Trogon.

On Sunday’s field trip to Montosa Canyon, the leaders slowed the vans so that we could see Cliff Swallows and their nests under a highway overpass. At our first stop, we saw in the shrubs and small trees next to the road Lucy’s Warbler and Rufous-winged Sparrows. Our next stop along Mt Hopkins Road netted everyone great views of Cassin’s Sparrows singing and skylarking. At the rest stop we saw the target bird, the Varied Bunting. At various walking stops along the side of the road we saw Canyon and Rock Wrens and a Greater Road Runner. At the end of the trip, at the Amado Water Treatment Plant, we saw two Long-billed Curlews, Black-bellied Whistling Duck, Neotropic Cormorant, Northern Rough-winged, Barn and Cliff Swallows and Mallards.

On our own we visited several birding hotspots: the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum, Mt. Lemmon (rest stops, Rose Canyon Lake and Campground, and Summerhaven), Sweetwater Wetlands, and the Santa Rita Lodge in Madera Canyon.

In July 2006, Larry Meade took a nine day trip to Arizona with WINGS. The leaders were Jon Dunn and Gavin Biever. Since all lodging and food was included in the price of the tour, he did not have to worry about logistics. He could focus all his effort on birding and taking photos. Some of his favorite birds of the 190 that he saw included Spotted Owls, an Elegant Trogon, a Flame-colored Tanager, a Rufous-capped Warbler, young Northern Goshawks, and fourteen kinds of hummingbirds.

The birds and wonderful scenery make a trip to Southeastern Arizona very worthwhile!

First American Birding Expo

On October 4, 2015, I had the opportunity to attend the first American Birding Expo in Columbus, Ohio. This event was organized by Bird Watcher’s Digest and the American Birding Association. This 3-day event was held at the Grange Insurance Audubon Center located along the Ohio River. People from over 40 different countries participated in the event.

The expo was held in the Center and two large outdoor tents. The amount of information offered on birding tours around the world was overwhelming. Central and South American countries were well represented including a few surprises such as Guyana which appears to offer great birdlife with a fraction of the tourists found in nearby Costa Rica. After a few hours browsing and talking to all these vendors I was overwhelmed by all the options and choices. It was fun to talk to all the representatives. Many had flown in for the expo since the majority of their clients come from the US.

Of course significant time was spent comparing the various optics vendors including Zeiss, Leica, Kowa and others. The clarity and quality of optics that are offered at each price point is amazing. I was particularly impressed by the extremely small 10x25 Kowa binoculars. These tiny binoculars are suitable for those who want to travel extremely light or have small hands. Naturally the extreme high-end binoculars were tested too. It is hard to see the differences between the various brands, but I thought that the Zeiss HT was the brightest of all, but the Leica 10x42 felt great to hold in the hand. Overall it was just fun to test and compare all these brands.

There were plenty of odds and ends: T-shirts, art, books, seeds, feeders, other optics, carrying cases and a shoulder brace for cameras and spotting scopes. Plenty of testing of the shoulder brace was done and it shows a lot of promise for use in the field.

Of course I did some birding as well. I saw first-of-the-season Dark-eyed Juncos, a Blue-Headed Vireo, as well as a nice variety of warblers including Magnolia, Yellow-rumped, Northern Parula, and Black-throated Green. Also watched a juvenile Pileated Woodpecker and a pair of Yellow-bellied Sapsuckers. I had fun attending and recommend this event.
